PUBLIC CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

to attend the course: "Students, University and Dealing with the Past Processes in Kosovo"

Through this call, the Human Rights Center of the University of Prishtina invites all students to apply for participation in the course "Students, University and Dealing with the Past Processes in Kosovo".

The course's goal is to introduce to students the field of transitional justice as a path of dealing with past human rights violations and as a field that contributes on reconciliation and democratization in post-conflict and post-authoritarian societies.

The course builds confidence and enhances the knowledge of Kosovo students in general on addressing the past and building a stable peace.

The expected results.

By the end of the course participants will:

- Improve the understanding of the concept of transitional justice;
- Acquire knowledge and skills to actively and positively participate in transitional justice and peacebuilding issues;
- Gain in-depth knowledge of the different cases of countries that have gone through the process of transitional justice at regional and international level;
- Be competent to transfer knowledge and skills acquired in their personal and professional environment;
- Be introduced to the career opportunities on transitional justice field;
- Have a clearer understanding of current transitional justice processes in Kosovo.

After completing the course, students will attend an international conference that will take part in the premises of the Faculty of Law of the University of Prishtina.

The number of participants in the course is limited to 35 participants and special attention will be paid to the admission of participants with proportional representation of gender as well as members of different ethnic communities. Students coming from minority groups are encouraged to apply.

The course will be conducted in Albanian and English.

It will last two months and it is free of charge.

Upon completion of the course students will be provided with certificates.
